Mr. Belmont's statement that the receivership had in no way affected the solvency of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, one man who is concerned admitted that the directors appreciated the necessity of some sort of an adjustment of the company's securities. This man said that it might be necessary to wipe out the $100,000,000 of common stock and split the existing forty-odd millions of preferred into preferred and common after it had been ascertained how much the surface lines can earn over fixed charges.

The receivers took possession of the company's offices at 621 Broadway yesterday morning and held a conference there with H. H. Vreeland, the president, Oren Root, vice-president and general manager, and lawyers representing the company and the other Inter-Met interests. The receivers announced after the conference that they had selected Arthur H. Masten of the law firm of Masten & Nichols. Wall street, as their counsel, and had appointed Mr. Vreeland will continue to run the surface lines under the direction of the receivers. He said that there would be absolutely no change so far as the public was concerened in the operation of the receivers, was special master in the eighty cent. gas case. Mr. Robinson said:

"Mr. Joline and myself are now operating the New York City Railroad with the purpose of conducting the business in such a way that it will be put on a sound financial basis as expeditiously as possible. Nothing will be left undone to accomplish this result. Our policy will be to conduct the business on an aggressive basis, not inconsistent with good service to the public."

business on an aggressive basis, not in-consistent with good service to the public."

Asked if the receivers expected to accom-plish the reorganization of the company within a reasonable time, Mr. Robinson said:

"Our expectations are high and we are hopeful of all things. We shall guard all the interests concerned, public as well as private, to the best of our solidity."

The receivers started out yesterday to get some idea of the company's quick assets and the liabilities which are the most urgent. It will probably be three or four days before they know even approximately what the company's deficit is. The receivers will make a statement when the real state of affairs is known definitely.

The Record of Local Street Railways as Furnished to Public Service Board. The Public Service Commission on August issued an order directing the local railroad companies to send reports to the board of all accidents on their lines. At yesterday's meeting of the board a report was presented by the secretary that between August 5 and August 31 the returns made by the companies showed that there had been no fewer than 5,500 accidents in that period on the railroad lines of the different boroughs. This was the summary of the Other serious injuries.

Chairman Willcox, William M. Ivins, chairman Willcox, William M. Ivins, special counsel to the commission, and Marvyn Scudder the board's expert accountant, spent all day yesterday in going over the books of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, which were delivered to the commission on Tuesday. It was intimated that the information obtained from the records would prove the basis for a series of interesting seasions when the financial end of the merger was taken up again. This phase of the investigation will not be touched upon to-day when the commission resumes its investigation.

The seasion will be devoted to inquiring into questions of operation. The only witnesses to be called will be President E. P. Bryan and General Manager Frank Hedley of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, who will be asked to explain some of the deficiencies of the service provided on the subway route.

The Staten Island Chamber of Commerce called the attention of the commission yesterday to numerous shortcomings of the lighting and railroad companies of Staten Island, and in order to give the residents of that borough an opportunity to explain more fully their complaints it was decided to give a public hearing to the special counsel to the commission, and

MAY GET THE LAW AFTER FISH

CHICAGO PROSECUTOR TO INVES-TIGATE HARAHAN'S CHARGES.

He Is Not Sure Whether Illinois, New York or Federal Court Mas Jurisitetion - Will More First to Discover Whether or Not Any Crime Has Been Committed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. The law promises to take a hand in the controversy between President James T. Harahan and ex-President Stuyvesant Fish of the Illinois Central Railroad. The scene of activities to-day shifted from the directors' room in New York and the Chicago general offices to the offices of State Attorney Healy.

Las night Mr. Harahan in a statement to stockholders charged that Mr. Fish loaned himself $1,500,000 of the road's money on inadequate and unmarketable securi ties, and to-day State Attorney Healy announced that he would begin at once a rigid investigation to determine whether the deal as described violated the laws of Illinois. If the statements made by Mr. Harahan prove to be correct and it is shown that the transactions of Mr. Fish as custodian of the road's treasury were in violation of the Il.inois statutes, Mr. Healy hinted that prosecution would follow.

"I intend to find what the facts are on which the charges of President Harahan are based," declared Mr. Healy, "and I shall then seek to learn whether the acts of Mr. Fish were in violation of the Illinois or New York statutes and whether the Illinois or New York State courts or the Federal courts have jurisdiction

"The charges made by Mr. Harahan are too serious to be overlooked. From present information I cannot tell that an offense has been committed. Even if one were I could not be sure whether it was committed here or in New York city. If, however, I obtain information showing that Mr. Harahan's charges are true and the alleged misuse of funds occurred in this city this office certainly will take action. No complaint has as yet been presented to me and I would require further information as to whether the alleged misuse of the funds constituted a crime.

The investigation, it was said, will begin neediately. If the State Attorney finds the Cook county courts have jurisdiction officials of the Illinois Central will be subprensed to appear before the Grand Jury and will be asked to produce the books and records of the company. News that State Attorney Healy had interested himself in the charges against Mr. Fish came as a surprise to the officials of the Illinois Central. At Mr. Harshan's of the Illinois Central. At Mr. Harahan's office it was said he was prepared to substantiate the statements contained in his circular letter to stockholders, but that he had nothing further to add now. An effort was made to see Mr. Harahan personally this afternoon, but it was stated that he was too busy to comment on the new turn the controversy between himself and Mr. Fish had taken.

IT'S HARRIMAN FISH IS AFTER Proposes to Pay No Long Range Attention to Harahan.

Stuyvesant Fish refused yesterday to make any detailed reply to the charges made in President Harahan's statement the preceding day. When asked, however if he would give Mr. Harahan another stiff punch on the jaw were the latter present he broke his silence.
"You bet I would," he replied, "though he's hardly worth bothering with for all that. I'm not after him. He's too small. I'm gunning for Harriman. He's the man I want. Mr. Fish added that the Harahan charges were made of whole cloth and that his present intention was not to notice them As to the charge that the Illinois Central made a loss on its loans to D. Leroy Dresser and the Trust Company of the Republic he said:

"There's little in that. Loans were made to Mr. Dresser, as loans are made every day to people who are seeking money. The road did lose money, but not much. I made loans to Mr. Dresser and his com-pany and other individuals and concerns made loans to them."

the inquiry into Dr. Shepard's death, although he had already pronounced it accidental, after hearing the testimony of the widow and the physicians in regard to the circumstances attending it. John D. Lynch, who was employed as gardener by the dead physician, testified yesterday that during the week preceding Dr. Shepard's death he appeared to be in fear of somebody or something. He had even stripped himself, Lynch said, of his diamonds and valuable gold watch, borrowing the 31 timepiece of his colored coachman. He also swore that on the afternoon of September 5, when Dr. Shepard also took a dose of morphine, Mrs. Shepard remarked to the witness:

"Be careful to-day and watch the doctor, John. Something is going to happen."

Lynch-also swore that Helen McCarthy, one of the servants, told him that a revolver had been wrested from Dr. Shepard's grasp just before he took the fatal dose of morphine. At the inquest the servant denied that she had made this statement. May 1, 1905.
